

JANIS ROBINSON DALY

Author Speaking
Engagements
In-person or Zoom

ISBN: 978-1-68513-014-5

ISBN: 978-1-68513-472-3

BLACK ROSE writing™

DISTRIBUTION THROUGH INGRAM

► AUTHOR TALKS

One Hour Presentation, Choose From:

- Historical Fiction Inspires & Educates
- Genealogy Research Leads to Writing a Novel
- Paths to Publications The Pros and Cons to Consider for Aspiring Writers
- Women's History Month - Special program for March. A review of 31 recommended titles to celebrate women in history

► BOOK CLUBS

Author chat and moderated discussion of
THE UNLOCKED PATH or THE PATH
BENEATH HER FEET.

Book Club in a Bag (8 or more books)
- special discount offer available.

Booking Request
janis@janisrdaly.com

All events publicized through Janis Daly's website, monthly newsletter to 2,500+ subscribers, and social media.

WHAT THEY'RE SAYING...

“Janis Robinson Daly did a fantastic talk on her book. Her presentation appealed to a wide range of our patrons. Attendees from the event still approach me to say how much they enjoyed the presentation.”

*Devon Evans, Adult Services Librarian
Brewster Ladies Library, Brewster MA*

“The Women in History presentation was insightful and had a new spin on covering women of importance every day of the month. It was one of the best, if not the best, coverage of our contribution to the many facets of society dating back to the early 1800s. The presentation was excellent, with intriguing stories of triumph and success.”

*Cheryl Small, Library Administrator
Fulton County Library System, Central Library, Atlanta, GA*

“We loved hosting you at the Middletown Free Library!! I look forward to securing a date with you and advertising with my book club and beyond. Can't wait to work with you again!

*Laura Kuchmay, Director of Adult Services
Middletown Free Library, Media PA*

“Daly brought such excitement to our meeting. She dazzled our group with her wit, charm and enthusiasm; we as a book group look forward to her next novel and hope for her return.”

Patty Bailey, Turn the Page Book Group moderator, Morrill Memorial Library, Norwood MA

“You are awesome. Thank you, again, for bringing such a quality program to Hawthorne.”

*Guylene Resue, Librarian,
Alachua County Library District (FL), Hawthorne Branch*

“Libraries seeking novels of women’s achievements, professional growth, and early struggles for change and authority will appreciate the alluring focus of The Path Beneath Her Feet, which stands as nicely alone as it serves as a fitting adjunct to The Unlocked Path. It can be pursued for its entertainment value or assigned as lively reading for discussion groups interested in women’s history, programs promoting women’s health, or any combination of these subjects.”

Diane Donovan, Reviewer, Midwest Book Review